

Singing in the season with the voice of angels

Group visits St. Ambrose for Christmas concert

By DIANE TURNER
The Post contributor

Northeast Ohio's own Singing Angels performed recently at St. Ambrose. The children, ranging in age from 8 to 16, performed holiday classics for the audience. Dressed in their shiny blue vests and smiles galore, they entertained all. It was a great way to kick off the holiday season.

The group was founded in 1964 and is dedicated to youth development through the highest level of artistic achievement in the performing arts. The mission is to engage youth from all communities in quality music and performing arts education that teaches teamwork, builds confidence and provides a foundation for life.

For more than 40 years, Cleveland's own Singing Angels have toured the world. They have visited more than 30 countries. Performances have included five trips to the White House, the Great Hall of the People of China and three performances at the Vatican.

The Singing Angels performed Christmas music at St. Ambrose.

Photo by DIANE TURNER